

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND LETTERS

POINTS OF PRIDE

3 Galleries

Three different art galleries and a sizeable permanent collection of art is managed through the College of Arts and Letters Museum Studies program.

2 N MAP a

Since 2020, the College of Arts and Letters has launched two new and very successful graduate programs - an MA In Professional Communication and an MA In Social and Emerging Media. Additional graduate programs and continuing education programs are under development.

120 M

Two 60-minute holiday productions

The College of Arts and Letters has produced two 60-minute holiday specials for PBS using student and faculty film crews and starring UT student performers in music, theater and dance. The specials were completed entirely in house with all editing, directing and post-production done by Communication and Film majors and on-air graphics done by Art and Design students.

S c N

College of Arts and Letters are teachers, scholars and creatives that are second to none. They include Fulbright winners, globally recognized artists, and scholars that have published books with the most competitive university presses.

>250

Cultural Events Annually

The College of Arts and Letters programs over 250 cultural events annually that are free and open to the community. From French films to Broadway musicals, the College is an important component of the arts scene in Tampa Bay.

In 2022 Tampa-based VU Technologies donated a a LED volume technology in the Virtual Production Studio. The studio is a bleeding edge production space where film and communication students learn industry-leading techniques. UT was one of the first schools in the country to have a curriculum based on this next generation of filmmaking.